Dairymen Told To Submit Plan For Milk Board

Any Change Must Be Applied To All B.C., Minister Explains

By T. A. MYERS

If Vancouver Island milk producers want a new form of milk board, they must draft a workable plan which would apply to the whole of B.C., Agriculture Minister Harry Bowman said yesterday.

He spoke after a 90-minute session with an eight-man delegation of Island dairymen who appealed for changes in the B.C. milk board.

The dairymen suggested a change in the present three-man board to include producer representation, said Henry Robinson, secretary of the Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association and leader of the delegation.

THREE MEETINGS

Three association meetings in Nanaimo, Duncan and Victoria, agreed to ask the government to remove Island producers from the jurisdiction of the milk board.

Mr. Bowman said any change in the board would have to be provincial in scope.

"We can't have one set-up for Vancouver Island and another for the rest of the province," he said.

The dairymen said the discussion with the minister was mainly about production costs and milk prices.

"All we want," one said, "is enough money to keep us from having to sell our cows until spring."

FORMAL PLAN

Mr. Bowman said any changes in the milk board organization desired by the dairymen would have to be incorporated into a formal plan which would be presented to him later.

The minister left for Vancouver yesterday afternoon to discuss the dairymen's representations with milk board chairman E. C. Carr.

Mr. Bowman will continue east to Toronto for the Royal Winter Fair. He will return to Victoria Nov. 19.

Suspended Sentence For Smith

Edward V. Smith, who told Saanich police he had been disfigured by a group of Hallowe'en masked youths who sprayed acid over his face, was given a two-year suspended sentence in Saanich police court yesterday.

The slimly-built former janitor pleaded guilty to the charge of creating a public mischief last Saturday after his release from hospital.

He still has reddish-brown burns from the caustic soda he admitted rubbing on his own face.

FOUR RIDERS

Magistrate H. C. Hall added four riders to the sentence.

1. Attend and take such medical treatment as may be advisable.

2. Endeavor to secure employment.

3. Report monthly to the probation officer for two years.

4. Do not leave the southern portion of Vancouver Island without consent in writing of the probation officer.

Phillips Pete Announces Test Well in Peace River

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8 (CP).—A big American firm, Phillips Petroleum, has announced a new test well in British Columbia's Peace River district.

The firm had been conducting extensive exploration work in the district for some time. The announcement said the test well is about 40 miles from Fort Nelson, near the northern boundary of British Columbia. The well is called Phillips Tenaka No. 1.

As this was announced, the provincial government's blackout in Victoria on oil news got even blacker yesterday.

Tuesday, after five days of wide-open distribution of news of the Fort St. John oil strike, the government's oil and gas control board was ordered to clam up.

It was announced that in future the board could not release names of applicants for oil exploration permits or any other information on what may be a vastly important oil field and B.C.'s first.

News could only come from the Minister of Lands and Forests, or from Charles Hopper, acting deputy minister of lands.

Wednesday the acting deputy said only the minister could release information.

Yesterday both the minister and his deputy were out of town. No government official was given authority to release oil news, at the moment when the Pacific Petroleum group is beginning its first production tests at the new Peace River well.

Firm Outlines Building Plans

SPOKANE, Nov. 8 (AP).—A construction program costing $1,355,000 for its Mead reduction plant was announced today by the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Company.

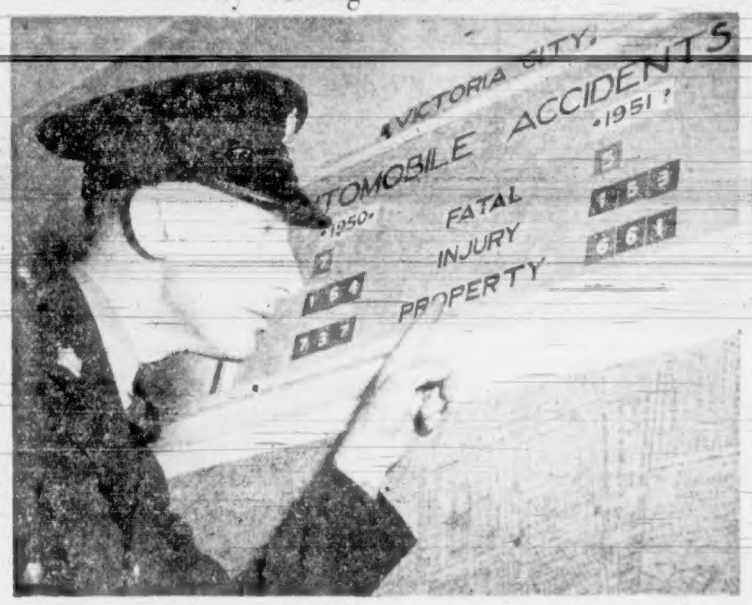
Why Driving Will Cost More



Already this year Victoria's accident rate is climbing to match the dead and injured for 1950. Arthur Newsome of the city police traffic division is pointing to one reason car insurance will cost more next year.—(Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

Substantial Increase Forecast For Car Insurance Premiums

By TREVOR COLLINS

Victoria's motoring public is in for a jolt when its next car insurance premium is due.

Rising repair costs and more accidents have combined to throw Victoria's low insurance premiums into a tailspin.

Justin Harbord, local insurance agent, said yesterday the two factors would cause a "substantial" increase in rates next year.

"If the frequency of accidents, or the average cost of claims for any particular territory increases, then premiums must, of necessity, be raised," he said. "On the other hand, if accidents and claims go down then premium rates are reduced."

AMOUNT IN DOUBT

Neither Mr. Harbord, nor local insurance adjusters, would hazard a guess at the amount paid out in claims in Victoria this year.

"There has been a substantial increase in claim costs as a result of present day conditions in spite of improved highway construction and in spite of the efforts of the provincial government to reduce accidents," he said.

A check with the city police traffic division disclosed that 1951 may pass the accident score for 1950 by a wide margin.

Already five persons have been killed, 153 injured, and 661 accidents reported to police. Last year seven persons died, 154 were injured and 737 accidents were reported.

MORE CARS

"There are more cars on the road and there are bound to be more accidents," he said.

Increasing traffic hazard is costing the non-motoring public more, too.

About 20 policemen have a full-time job in the traffic division answering emergency calls and other traffic problems. These men are paid by the taxpayers.

Mr. Harbord pointed out that records show that in a large percentage of cases, accidents are not caused by road conditions.

"They are due to laxness in enforcing laws and to general thoughtlessness of the drivers concerned," he declared.

Adding to the higher cost of insurance has been an increase in the cost of all services, such as labor, repair parts and the expense involved in putting a car back on the road after it has been damaged.

"There has also been an increase in costs of hospital treatment for those injured as well as a rise in the general scale of living," he said.

Three Ships Bringing 30 From Blazing Freighter

SEATTLE, Nov. 8 (AP) — Three ships plowed through the storm-tossed North Pacific tonight with 30 survivors of the burning freighter George Walton.

Six members of the 36-man crew are not making the homeward voyage. They are the dead and missing.

The final six known survivors, wet and weary after being tossed for 35 hours in their lifeboat, were rescued before dawn today by the U.S. Coast Guard cutter Wachusett. They were found about 22 miles from the burning freighter, about 300 miles off the northwestern tip of Washington State.

Fire and an explosion drove the crew from the ship Tuesday afternoon while it was en route from Longview, Wash., to India with a wheat cargo.

The Coast Guard said today one man was dead when the "abandon ship" order was given.

The other five, presumed drowned, were lost as safety seemed within their grasp.

The coast guard said latest information indicated four out of 13 in one lifeboat were lost as the Japanese freighter Kenkon Maru was rescuing them, and three from another boat.

The freighter Katherine saved 12 of 13 men in another lifeboat.

Meanwhile, the coast guard cutter Northwind was standing by the wheat ship, which was still burning at last reports.

The Wachusett, with the last six survivors aboard, was due to arrive at Port Angeles, Wash., around 7 a.m. Friday. The other two rescue ships were expected a few hours later.

Beer Strike Eases Jail

Usual run of morning-after-the-night before hangovers has dwindled.

With all beer parlors near the city closed, the number of "drunks" locked up in the city jail these nights is slowly dropping off.

During the past six days, 13 offenders spent the night behind bars.

In the six days prior to that the total was 18.

Much-Criticized "Brass" Praised by Prince Philip

HALIFAX, Nov. 8 (CP)—Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip moved on to Charlottetown today, where they board the cruiser Ontario for the remaining two stops of their tour—Sydney, N.S., and St. John's, Newfoundland.

The Princess reassured Haligonians about their tough luck with the weather. "We shall take away with us memories of your wonderful welcome which was quite undimmed by wind and weather," she said.

The Duke was interpreted to have gone to bat for officialdom who have had criticism heaped on them for such things as long reception lines. He said:

"Among the many people we have met have been men and women elected by their fellow citizens to look after their affairs in city, province and the nation's capital.

"They have been called officials, unkindly perhaps, but it is upon these very men and women that the present administration and broad future development of this country chiefly depends."

At a luncheon the Princess noted photographers trying to get a camera working.

"What's wrong with it?" she asked. "We can't get it working," said the owner.

Labor Victor In Final Vote

BARNSLEY, England, Nov. 8 (Reuters)—Labor tonight won the last seat to be contested in the general election, holding this Yorkshire Labor stronghold district with a majority of 28,227 over the Conservative vote.

This makes the government majority in the House of Commons 17, including the speaker, who is neutral.

Envoy Offers His Credentials

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP)—The first German ambassador named to Canada presented his credentials to the Governor-General today and hailed the occasion as the start of a campaign to win Canadian trade investment and friendship for West Germany.

Dr. Werner Dankwort, a career diplomat serving in Sweden through most of the war, has been in Ottawa since February as a consul-general. His elevation arises from the Canadian-West German agreement to exchange ambassadors under which T. C. Davis has already presented his credentials in Bonn as Canada's first ambassador to Germany.

Mayor Practices Double Job

"Come on you 'Cats'!" cheers the newest member of the Cougars' Boosters Club. Officially presented with his membership card and button yesterday, Mayor Percy George practices up for two jobs in New Westminster this Saturday—to sweep Queens Park Arena ice and to cheer Victoria's hockey team to victory over the Royals. Making the presentation and showing the mayor how are Booster president Jack Kersey (right) and club publicity director George Geddie. About 20 club members will travel to the mainland to lend moral support to both the mayor and the team.—(Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

Municipalities Now Outcount Victoria

Jubilant Reeves Term City Just Tail Trying to Wag Dog

By BRIAN LOUGHNAN

Victorians are surrounded and outnumbered!

Latest Dominion census figures dealt a blow to civic pride last night, showing that surrounding municipalities are gaining in population at a gallop while the city is almost standing still.

Greater Victoria's population is 103,199 compared with the 1941 census figure of 75,360. City population has grown 6,000 to 50,774. Saanich, Esquimalt and Oak Bay together have swollen by over 20,000 to 52,425.

City estimates of population were hard hit when figures released in September showed 12,000 "liquidated" citizens. Ottawa's figures proved city estimates too high by that number.

SAANICH CLAIM

"I estimate that there are 26,000 people in Saanich," he said.

Municipal figures have not yet been released by Ottawa.

Oak Bay's reeve, P. A. Gibbs, conceded that Saanich was the big winner among the municipalities.

Esquimalt accounts from some 7,500 people, according to Reeve A. I. Thomas, a gain from the 1941 figure of 4,500.

Any community effort launched by Victoria in the future will be a case of the tail wagging the dog, reeves felt.

GOOD GUESS

Chamber of Commerce made a good guess at the population for Greater Victoria for the booklet "Facts About Victoria." The chamber figure sets the population at 103,500, only 301 over the official figure.

The official figure confirms civic premonitions of a loss in revenue, forecast by the September figures for city population.

Municipalities will probably gain substantially.

The loss to the city will probably come through reduction of provincial grants, like the municipalities' share of the 3 per cent sales tax, which is divided largely on a per capita basis.

Figures for other Canadian cities, in order of size (1951 figures in brackets), are:

Montreal, 1,370,044 (1,245,282); Toronto, 1,108,532 (909,928); Vancouver, 324,339 (377,147); Winnipeg, 350,924 (299,937); Ottawa, 278,078 (225,666); Quebec, 271,236 (224,736); Hamilton, 238,372 (197,732); Edmonton, 172,112 (97,842); Windsor, 156,868 (123,933); Calgary, 136,719 (93,021); Halifax, 132,074 (97,183); London, 120,991 (90,024); Victoria, 103,199 (75,218); Saint John, N.B., 77,385 (50,927).

Dockers Settle Strike

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (Friday) (AP). The 25-day-old longshoremen's strike that has crippled the ports of New York and Boston was officially reported settled early today.

New York State industrial commissioner Edward Corsi, head of a fact-finding panel, announced that the striking dock workers will return to work at 1 p.m. (EST) today.

Vishinsky Scornful Of Disarmament Plan

PARIS, Nov. 8 (CP)—Russia today rejected a western disarmament proposal in the United Nations with a scornful bitterness that left little hope for easing East-West tensions.

Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky's sarcastic attack on the British-American-French resolution for ending the cold war and establishing an arms census came as a disappointment to most western delegates.

He dismissed as ludicrous, trifling and spurious the resolution embodying a proposed four-point resolution which would provide for a world disarmament conference by next June 1. This was seen by western delegates as merely a propaganda move but also as a possible basis for discussion at the U.N.

But Vishinsky's call for withdrawal of troops to the 38th Parallel in Korea was interpreted by some as throwing a monkey wrench into the Korean truce talks.

He clashed head-on with Dean Acheson after the United States secretary of state had appealed for support of the three-power plan, which President Truman commended to the U.N. in a broadcast address from Washington Wednesday night.

Universal Pension Bill Weathers Final Assault

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP)—Legislation to provide universal pensions at 70 received third and final reading in the Commons today after weathering a final opposition assault on some of its provisions and a C.C.F. attempt to change the method of financing the payments.

The government measure, under which $40-a-month payments to all over 70 will start Jan. 1 next, now goes to the Senate for approval.

It got third reading without a recorded vote, but before that it ran into these criticisms:

1. The C.C.F. contended the 2 per cent personal income tax, which will partly finance the pension, should not have a $60-a-year ceiling as the bill proposes, since that kept the rich from paying an equitable share.

2. Progressive Conservative and Social Credit spokesmen argued a 2 per cent sales tax at the manufacturer's level, another part of the financing, is a hidden tax and also would be pyramided heavily by the time it reaches the consumer.

3. C.C.F. and Social Credit members said the $40 pension is not adequate.

Fishery Talks Continuing

TOKYO, Nov. 9 (Friday) (AP). The U.S.-Japan-Canada fisheries conference met again today to hear clarification of the U.S. proposals.

The chief U.S. delegate, W. C. Herrington, suggested yesterday that conservation of fishing resources to maintain maximum production might require some countries to abstain from the exercise of their rights under international law. This should be done by voluntary agreement, he said.

Rights Denied, Coldwell Says

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP)—M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said tonight that during the recent North Atlantic Treaty conference in Ottawa there had been "certain violations of the privileges of parliament" which should be guarded against in future.

He told the Commons of being challenged at the door of parliament and asked by a member of the armed forces for a pass during the conference in September. He had insisted on his right to enter and had eventually gained admittance without showing a pass.

He had done that, he said, in protest against the violation of the privilege of any member of parliament to enter the house at any time as a matter of right. In addition, he said, offices of some members had been used by N.A.T.O. officials without permission.

Housing Loans Due

WINNIPEG, Nov. 8 (CP)—Resources Minister Robert Winters in a telegram to National Builders' Association said today that the federal government and the Dominion Mortgage & Investment Corporation had ironed out difficulties which held up building programs in the past.

Mr. Winters said loans will be available to would-be home owners by next Monday or Tuesday. No details of the settlement were announced. They are expected to be released this week-end.

Mr. Winters' telegram was a reply to one sent Tuesday by association president F. A. Mager asking for immediate action so that builders could get to work while the weather still is good.

Third Logging Mishap In 72 Hours Recorded

NANAIMO, Nov. 8—Nanaimo district recorded its third serious logging mishap in less than 72 hours Thursday morning when Wilfred Hamilton was rushed to Nanaimo Hospital after suffering serious head injuries.

The mishap occurred at the same camp where Albino Sernagiotto met instant death Monday when crushed between two logs, and where Albert Sutton received fatal injuries when he fell into a saw the same day. Sutton died in hospital Wednesday morning.

Mr. Hamilton, 37, is married and was a brother-in-law of Sernagiotto.

The latest accident occurred about 9 a.m. at Comox Logging Company's operation at Nanaimo Lake.

He was found to be suffering from a fracture at the base of his skull when examined at hospital. His condition is reported as "very poor."

ALL ABOARD

By G. E. Mortimore

The Colonist has demanded more policemen at night in Victoria. A news story noted a sharp increase in "petty crime."

Views of the mayor, police commissioners and others have been sounded out. Some say yes, some say no. But with all respect to our reporters, I suggest they are going [illegible] from the wrong angle.

When they take these surveys of opinion, they should approach the people who are directly affected.

In an effort to set the matter right, I have ventured to consult one of the more respectable leaders of the underworld.

"Duh time has come ta call a halt ta govmint innerference wit business, see?" said Butch LaHeist, chairman of the Victoria Chamber of Crime.

"More and more of our boys is goin' broke alla time. Some of 'em even took it on the lam and went straight. Get that! Some of 'em went to be loggers. Some of 'em went to be dairy farmers.

"I tell ya, Mac, our industry's in danger of bein' wiped out. Lookut some a these jobs they been pullin. 'Buckerfields Limited entered and about $3 in stamps missing.' What kinda profit is that?

"No, mister, a guy's gotta right to a fair return on his investment. 'Theft of an anchor chain and rope from a boat tied up at Fishermen's Wharf.' How you expect a guy to make a livin' that way?

"The price of all our raw materials and equipment goes up every minnit. Look what ya gotta pay for an ordinary jimmy to pry open a window. Look what ya gotta pay for a gun, or a mask, or anything else ya need. It's robbery, I tell ya.

"So what does the govmint do about it? More controls. Know who's howlin' for controls, Mac? Dem loafers who's too lazy ta go out and do a good night's work like you and me."

I protested that I was not in the same line of business, but Mr. LaHeist paid no attention.

* * *

"So they only got five cops onna beat at night. Whadda they want, call out the army? Too many parrysights livin' on duh govmint now, and who's payin' for it? You and me, Mac.

"We gotta go back to good old free enterprise, see? Too many young guys today, they think they can make a livin' by pushin' a pen. Well, dey're wrong. Duh bad check racket never was no good. Anyhow, I never learned ta write.

"Trouble wit duh younger generation, dey're scarda hard work, see? Lookut me. I climbed down drainpipes wit a heavy bag a silverware on my back. I lowered safes outta nine-story windas. Every cent I made, I worked for.

"Know what I had when I started out in this business as a kid? A knife, a blackjack and five cents in my pocket. Know what I got now? Exactly duh same. Know why? Govmint innerference wit business.

"And anudder thing. Lookut duh cheap prices we get from duh fences when we sell our stuff. What they pay ain't enough ta buy a bowl of turtle soup. It's a crime.

"Duh govmint oughtta step in and see duh fences pay us a fair price, see? Whaida we pay duh govmint for, anyhow?"

Bail Refused Man Held For Assault

Archibald McFarlane, 3490 Bethune, charged with indecent assault, was remanded on Tuesday for sentence following a trial in city police court yesterday.

Magistrate H. C. Hall cleared the court during the trial. "I am entirely satisfied you conducted yourself as presented in the evidence," he said.

He refused to set bail and said he would remand the case for a probation officer's report.

Edward A. Panigi, Gordon Head Army Camp, was fined $25 for driving without a driver's license.

Club Accepts Lot for Trees

The Victoria Optimist Club yesterday voted to accept an offer of a lot at 325 Cook Street for the sale of Christmas trees.

President Stanley James said Harold P. Gray had offered to supply the lot free of charge and wire it for lighting.

The club undertakes the sale of trees each year as one of its fund-raising projects.

Members discussed plans for the coming year's work in connection with the recreation and hobby centre.

Ian Anderson, chairman of the boys' work committee, gave a tentative outline of plans for physical training activities at the Y.M.C.A. and classes in public speaking.

After discussion it was decided that the committee would further investigate sources from which boys could be chosen for participation in the various classes.

POWERED FOR THE JOB
Four great engines! The 92 h.p. Thriftmaster, the big 105 h.p. Loadmaster, the massive 114 h.p. Torquemaster and the mighty 120 h.p. engine all deliver outstanding performance with remarkably low fuel and maintenance expense.

VALVE-IN-HEAD DESIGN
For 39 years, Chevrolet has built valve-in-head engines. No other manufacturer has built so many, just as no other truck-engine design can match the over-all economy and proved efficiency of Chevrolet's valve-in-head.

BLUE-FLAME COMBUSTION
Wrings all the usable energy from every drop of gasoline. Blue-Flame combustion is possible only with valve-in-head engine design — provides greater power and livelier performance, through more efficient utilization of fuel.

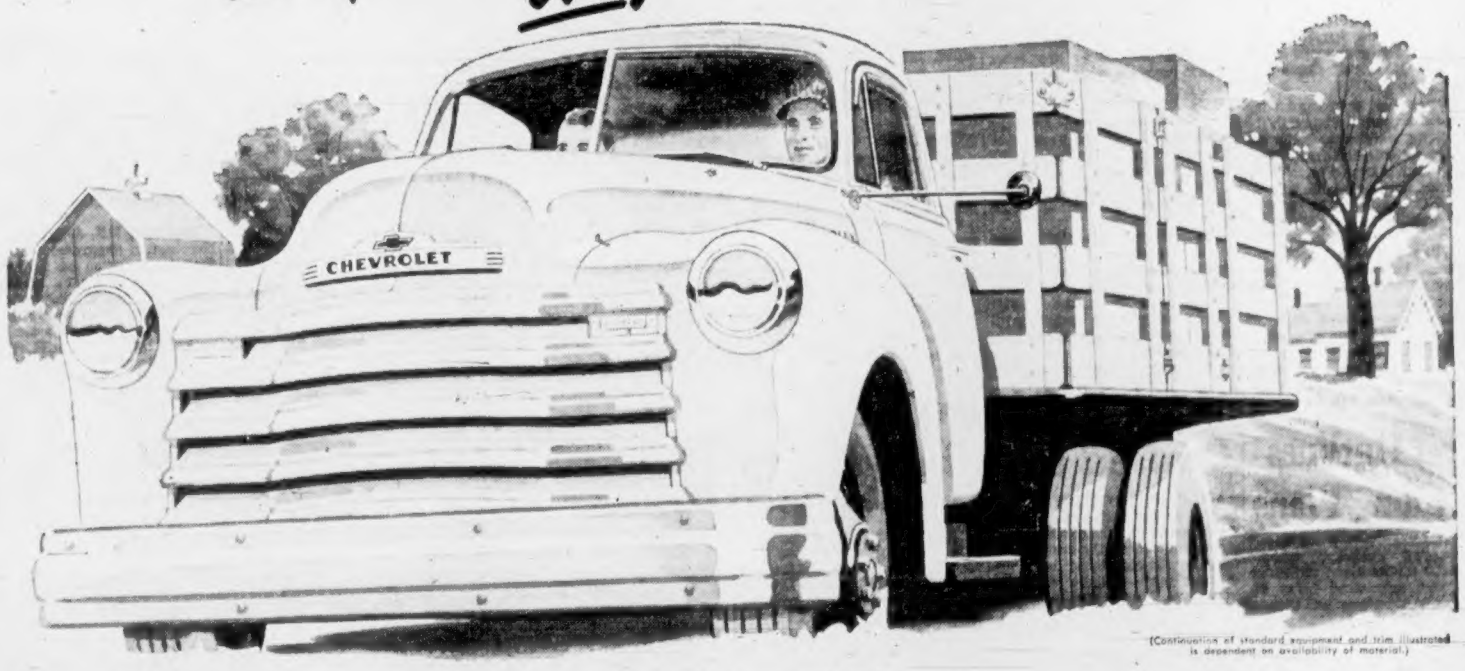
POWER-JET CARBURETOR
At low speed, on grades or at regular highway speeds, Chevrolet's Power-Jet carburetor maintains the proper fuel mixture for the engine. This, plus fast warm-up, smooth, quick response, means surprisingly low operating costs.

LONG LASTING BRAKES
The greater self-energization of Chevrolet hydraulic brakes provides smoother, safer braking — completely equalized pressure to each brake. This in turn assures full lining contact and longer wear — for the brakes on your truck.

BONDED BRAKE LININGS
No rivets! On light- and medium-duty models, the lining is bonded directly to brake shoes to increase life and to eliminate danger of scoring brake drums as lining wears. You get extra wear — safer brakes.

greater economy engineered in!

. . . to do more work for your money



(Continuation of standard equipment and trim illustrated is dependent on availability of material.)

Just take a look at the engineered-in economy features of Chevrolet trucks. Features like valve-in-head engine design, Blue-Flame combustion, Power-Jet carburetor, long lasting brakes and a host of others. All the vast engineering and manufacturing experience of Canada's largest truck builder is used to give you greater economy on the job.

And Chevrolet economy goes far beyond low operating costs. It means engines, chassis and cabs will stand up under rough, tough use month after month, year after year. It means building extra ruggedness and extra efficiency into Chevrolet trucks at lowest cost.

Every day, more and more truck users are switching to new Chevrolet trucks. Take a tip from these truck-wise buyers and get real economy and more work for your money.

No Concern in Ottawa Over U.K. Import Slash

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP).—Trade Minister Douglas Howe showed no concern today regarding the United Kingdom's decision to slice imports from dollar-area countries by almost $1,000,000,000 a year.

As far as Canada is concerned, he told the Commons, there is no cause for "great alarm."

Though the government has no details of the new British austerity plan, there is nothing in the United Kingdom situation which leads him to believe that smaller amounts of goods "can be taken from Canada."

Wheat sales to Britain were at a minimum. Other exports were mostly raw materials, metals, iron ore, lumber and materials of that type—materials in great demand throughout the world and for which Canada could find markets.

RAISED BY C.C.F.

The question of the possible impact of Britain's new austerity drive on Canadian exports was brought up in the Commons by prairie farmer, P. E. Wright (C.C.F.—Melfort). He was particularly concerned that the new restrictions might affect exports of wheat—"which are so essential to our western economy."

Mr. Howe said that while the government has no particulars of the new U.K. plan the government does have "an understanding with Britain that she will continue to buy North American supplies of wheat from Canada."

Outside the Commons, officials estimated that Britain's purchases of wheat and flour likely will total about 113,000,000 bushels in the 1951-52 crop year.

Britain had agreed to consider purchasing another 9,000,000 bushels outside the terms of the international wheat agreement, but this deal has not materialized.

The wheat contract in the current crop year was higher than last year's exports of 102,000,000 bushels, but lower than the 140,000,000 bushels in each of the two previous years.

British, European Migration To Canada Unprecedented

LONDON, Nov. 8 (NANA-Kemnews).—Coinciding with the Royal visit to Canada is an unprecedented boom in migration from the United Kingdom and Europe to the Dominion.

Applications for passages are being received daily by the shipping companies and airlines, but there is not the space either in ships or aircraft to meet the full demand. The steamship lines are mainly booked up until the spring of next year, and much the same is true of the airlines.

Emigration to Canada has more than doubled in the past 12 months, and there appears to be no end to inquiries from intending settlers. In August, for instance, which is not the height of the season, 14,000 people made inquiries at the London offices of the Canadian emigration authorities, and in one month in the spring there were as many as 27,000 applications. Similar pressure is being put on the emigration offices in the provinces and on the Continent.

In the seven months ended in July, 17,662 persons left the United Kingdom to settle in Canada, compared with 7,945 in the corresponding period in 1950.

It is estimated that about 35,000 British people will make their homes in Canada this year. This is in addition to between 500 and 10,000 aliens resident here leaving the United Kingdom every month to settle in the Dominion.

HONG KONG, Nov. 8 (AP).—Chinese Reds are trying to free the mainland of one of its most ancient superstitions.

Reports reaching her say the Hunan and Kiangsi paper mills no longer are devoting 70 per cent of their production to "superstitious paper."

This refers to such paper products as houses, rickshaws, mah jong sets and imitation money which old-fashioned Chinese traditionally burn as offerings to departed ancestors.

The Reds' New China News Agency said the mills are now turning out only "cultural paper."

Lawyer, 28, Proxy Father To 20-Year-Old Sailor

LONG BEACH, Cal., Nov. 8 (INS)—Blaine Simons, 28-year-old Long Beach attorney, today became the legal guardian, temporarily, of a six-foot two-inch, 180-pound sailor, on behalf of love.

Simons adopted husky John Lisenby just long enough to give his legal blessing to Lisenby's application for a license to marry Rhoda Olsen, 21.

As an orphan and a minor and being only 20 years old, Lisenby had been turned down when he and his fiancee first applied.

Simons' temporary duty as acting father was arranged through the efforts of superior judge Fred Miller, who placed the problem before the Long Beach Bar Association.

Lisenby and Miss Olsen will be married Saturday night. Next week his ship, the cruiser Cushing, sails from San Diego for the east coast.

Tenigue New Disease Hitting Motorists

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP).—A new U.S. national disease called tenigue was reported today. It's something almost any motorist may catch once he gets on the highway.

Tenigue is a made-up word—from tension and fatigue.

And L. S. Harris, executive secretary for the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administration, thinks it may be the answer why, any day now, the United States will have its 1,000,000th traffic fatality.

Harris explained his views in a news release and an interview.

"World affairs, economic strains and the general tempo of modern living tend to keep nerves at an angry tension," Harris said.

In the past, he believes, there has been a tendency to say that accidents are caused by a driver who is negligent and indifferent to rights of others.

Actually, Harris says, it may be that the poor fellow is exhausted.

The combined effect of tension and fatigue shows up in unsteadiness, a lack of hand and eye co-ordination, slowness in mental observations and in slow reactions.

What's the answer?

"Coffee stops," Harris claims. "Coffee stops give a fellow a chance to get out and stretch a little. Of course, I'm a coffee man. I like to stop about every 100 to 150 miles."

And what about the motorist who doesn't like coffee? How does he lick tenigue?

"Get out anyway," he said. "The stop will do him good."

Mysterious New Malady Attacks Troops in Korea

TOKYO, Nov. 9 (Friday) (AP).—Allied army physicians are trying to cope with a mystery malady—a deadly disease apparently borne to the battlefront by infected Communist ranks in Korea.

The Japanese call it songo fever and kokka disease.

An undisclosed number of United Nations troops are being treated, but the disease is so new to western medicine that no sure cure has been developed. It is said to resemble fever reported by the Japanese in Manchuria in 1939.

In Washington the army announced there have been 196 diagnosed cases and 25 deaths among American troops in Korea from June through the first week in November. The surgeon-general's office emphasized that the fever has not approached anything like epidemic proportions.

Japanese physicians believe the disease is caused by a tiny virus carried by field mice and transmitted to man by mites.

(There was no suggestion in any dispatches that the disease might involve bacteriological warfare. Apparently it was contracted from sick prisoners or refugees.)

Truman on Vacation Won't See Churchill

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 8 (INS)—President Truman arrived in Key West today for a five-to-six weeks' vacation and promptly ruled out a personal conference with Winston Churchill during his stay.

There was widespread speculation in Washington when the British prime minister was returned to office that Churchill would seek an early conference with the president on the world situation.

But Mr. Truman quickly put an end to it today when asked whether he expected Churchill to visit him at Key West. He replied:

"No, definitely not."

Referendum on Margarine Color

IN ARRANGING for a referendum in December on the provincial statute which prohibits the artificial coloring of margarine, the Victoria city council is doing housewives a good turn. It is their kitchens which are messed up and time wasted by this stupid piece of favoritism for the butter industry, and it is only fair that they should be given a chance to express an opinion on it.

The butter manufacturers and traders are amply protected by the Oleomargarine Act without being granted exclusive rights to the color yellow as well; in fact from first to last the statute is loaded in their favor. If permission to color margarine in the process of manufacture would enable margarine to be passed off as butter there might be some moral ground for preserving the ban; but that is not the case. Under other sections of the act margarine packages must have printed on them not only the word "Oleomargarine" or the trade name of the contents but also the notice "A substitute for butter." Public eating places where margarine is placed on the table are required by law to display placards stating "Oleomargarine is served here as a substitute for butter." There is not a chance in the world that anyone obeying the regulations (and there are severe penalties for not doing so) could deceive the public into believing that colored margarine was butter.

The butter lobby, therefore, puts up a weak argument when it contends that removal of the ban would give margarine manufacturers an unfair advantage. Actually the ban is one of the silliest protective devices ever invented — an out-and-out nuisance to the public, and of little or no value whatever to the industry it is designed to protect. The prohibition has merely aroused antagonism against the butter trade, which has probably been more harmed than helped.

Manitoba electors recently voted five to one in favor of its removal, and there is not much doubt which way a similar referendum will go here. If other British Columbia municipalities give their electors a chance to be heard, as seems likely, the provincial government will find it difficult to ignore the result.

Certificate Is Premature

THE PUBLISHED findings of the provincial water comptroller stating his intention of issuing a conditional license to the power commission to dam Buttle Lake set out on their face that the dam site at the lake has not yet been "fully investigated" by drilling nor its plans approved, and that this, in short, is one of the 11 conditions appended to the prospective license. If it is not yet known whether a satisfactory dam can be placed there or not, how can the comptroller find that the power commission has made out a case for storage of water at the site? That is a question of fact, and clearly the fact has not yet been established.

Before the issue of fact is reached, however, the water comptroller evokes a more serious objection in the effort to reach a conclusion of the matter referred to him. His findings state, in part: "I find that the B.C. Power Commission has shown good and sufficient reasons for the storage of water in Buttle Lake and that the proposed storage is in the public interest." Surely this part of the finding is beyond the comptroller's authority. Buttle Lake, while owned by the crown, has for years been expressly reserved by statute for public use and recreation as part of Strathcona Park. The legislature created that trust, and only the legislature can change it. No mere water license can override the prerogatives of the House and the rights of the people. Likewise who is more competent to judge of what is really in the public interest, the water comptroller or the legislature?

None of this is said to disparage the provincial official concerned, who is but doing his duty in a difficult spot. On the other hand, unless we are prepared to abandon responsible government and proceed by governmental fancy and whim, the prerogatives of parliament cannot be brushed aside in any such fashion. The British Columbia Legislature is entitled to a stay of action on all points now; a full review of the whole proceedings at the February session; and the last word in the case. Moreover, electors everywhere will watch to see that this comes to pass.

Veterans Keep a Tryst

ONCE a year as Remembrance Day draws near Canadian veterans draw together again to campaign on behalf of the disabled and underprivileged members of their number with whom the years have gone hard. This is the keeping of an old tryst, one which began many years ago when the original Armistice was fresh in the public's mind. Tomorrow the slogan—"Buy a Poppy for Remembrance"—will be in evidence everywhere, as veterans and their helpers sell the little artificial red flowers made by incapacitated members of their organizations. The appeal is one which has always meant much to Victorians, and there is little doubt that the veterans will be met with every help and good will tomorrow.

The advance sale of poppy wreaths to business and other circles has already netted some $3,500 for the funds of the campaign. To that needs to be added quite a little more if all objects of the drive are to be attained in these difficult times. Ex-service men and women of two wars with a plentiful supply of the little red emblems, made laboriously throughout the year, will be on hand on Saturday morning to further a genuine and wholly worthy cause. Remembrance Day itself, falling on Sunday this year, will be the occasion of special observances in keeping with the debt this nation owes to those who laid down their lives in action overseas. Poppies may be the outward symbol, but the real remembrance will be in the heart.

SONG OF THE HEN

Sir,—"It is the Mr. Balls that make life worth living," remarked a friend after reading the letter in your issue headed "A Song and an Egg" and signed "George W. Ball."

That letter sings with a humor and a reality transcending the rigmarole of word and distresses of our time and place. It sings in the thinking of Whittier, who wrote: "Take from our souls the strain and stress, and let our ordered lives confess the beauty of Thy peace." So did the little New Hampshire pullet put back into life that which we tend to lose.

George W. Ball has eyes to see and ears to hear, and voice to tell it to others.

PARCEL POST TO U.K.

Sir,—As the postage for food parcels to the United Kingdom has been increased lately, I wonder if such parcels couldn't be drawn from a wholesaler in London, which of course would eliminate postage charges on many items that originated from the Old Country such as savoury meats, etc., and also reduce the cost to the sender by purchasing goods through a co-operative house. We are already overburdened with higher cost of living expenses, increased taxation, etc., and would therefore welcome any suggestions from the trade in this regard.

ON SURVEYS

Sir,—As long as there's a Victoria the engineering profession will never run out of work in British Columbia.

I notice $10,000 or $15,000 has been spent in surveys of the Point Ellice bridge. Cannot the city engineer figure out whether or not the bridge is safe? It should not take "expert" experts to say whether it will stay up for awhile yet.

Now the traffic department is to spend considerable sums on traffic surveys and traffic supervisors. It's not long since a police traffic department was set up at much expense. Traffic went on about the same, not much improvement. Very likely the sum total from the new set-up will be the same.

The many thousands spent on surveys and researches into the arena from its very inception should make us rather wary of all this so-called expert advice. The arena remains in poor condition and the experts receive their considerable fees.

Many wonder if the officials concerned are somewhat timid in making decisions of their own and so try to put the responsibility on hired experts.

Probably what is required is not the use of so many experts but rather the use of that rare bird, good common sense.

TREE FELLING

Sir,—I notice in the press that it is probable that another oak tree may be cut down, this time on Shakespeare Street.

I am, like many others in Victoria, a great lover of trees so I was distressed to read the notice. An examination of Shakespeare Street shows in the two or three blocks just north of Begbie that there are half a dozen oak trees, all quite small but pleasant. There is one exception, a medium-sized oak which has grown beautifully.

After that Shakespeare Street is as bald as the prairies used to be, except again for two or three oaks just north of Bowker Creek. One of these is slightly damaged but should live, given a little care.

None of these oaks seem to me in any danger of falling or even, at present, of losing branches. It is true they are not magnificent trees, but they are ornaments to the City of Victoria.

May I suggest that, at least, detailed reasons for the removal of these trees be given to the citizens, many of whom have come to Victoria partly because of their love of trees.

Surely the taxpayers, at least, are entitled to some explanation before their public property is denuded.

Why Do We Catch Colds?

By MAURICE GOLDSMITH
U.N.E.S.C.O. Science Editor

FOR all dwellers in the Northern Hemisphere, the season of the common cold is beginning. A virus which seems to have been in hiding throughout the summer months is about to re-enter our lives.

A virus is a micro-organism, very much smaller than most bacteria, and somewhat different in its habits. A bacterium can be grown on lifeless material, specially prepared and relatively simple. A virus, but for the virus only living material will do. Viruses are responsible not only for the common cold but also for polio, influenza, smallpox, measles and yellow fever.

In recent years, much advance has been made in virology, the study of viruses. The electron microscope has enabled us for the first time to see clearly many different viruses. We can immunize against many virus diseases, such as smallpox, so that a traveler to an area where it is still prevalent may enter with some safety.

But we cannot do anything—yet—about the common cold. We must suffer it. In economic terms, it is responsible for devastating losses. In Great Britain alone, the cost of time lost and medical care amounts to tens of millions of pounds each year, and these figures are typical of other countries.

* * *

Although it is so much part of our lives, we know relatively little about the cold. We need to know, for example, whether it is one disease or a group of diseases—what causes it—how it is spread—why it is more common in winter than in summer—why in the same season one person will get more colds than another—and why the same person will get more colds in one year than in another.

No answer to these questions can be obtained until a technique is developed whereby the cold can be studied conveniently in the laboratory, under the full control of the scientist. This is the primary task of the Common Cold Research Unit, a joint project of the Medical Research Council and the Ministry of Health—which was set up in Britain in 1946 at the Harvard Hospital, Salisbury.

Laboratory animals, such as rabbits and guinea pigs, are often spoken of as friends of man, but their friendship has a limit—for they refuse to catch colds. Research workers at Salisbury, therefore, are compelled to use human volunteers.

Volunteers have to certify that they have not had a history of tuberculosis, asthma, hay fever, and recurrent sinusitis. Their fares to Salisbury are paid, and they receive three shillings a day pocket-money during their 10-day stay, which they spend in comfortable apartments, in pairs.

During their stay they remain in complete isolation, each pair seeing only each other and the doctor and matron who visit them daily. If they go for a walk, they are asked to stay at least 30 feet away from people they may meet.

To increase this isolation, each volunteer has his own thermometer and medical equipment, and each flat its own household wares, such as crockery, cutlery, and vacuum containers, in which hot food is brought three times a day. The food is left at the front door.

Three days after arrival, those who pass medical tests are given special nasal injections—and their lives as human guinea pigs begins. A daily record is kept of those who do and those who do not catch colds, and what their symptoms are. Thus far, there have been no decisive conclusions but some matters of common knowledge have been proved and others disproved.

* * *

Colds are more common in winter than in summer. But why this is we do not know. The weather itself is not the cause. We have studied, for instance, the way in which colds occur in waves in various American cities. The wave of colds does not travel down from the north, which has the cold weather first, to the warmer south, as might be expected. Instead, the outbreaks of colds occur almost simultaneously in all places.

Isolated and small communities in the cold Arctic are free from colds—until contact is made with somebody from the outside world. Two research workers who made a trip up the west coast of Greenland about 12 years ago, found that they were responsible for the colds that began to appear within two to three days of their arrival, although they themselves had no colds. The polar Eskimos had been free from colds for at least a year before they arrived; within three days every Eskimo in some settlements developed a cold.

The famous explorer, Admiral Byrd, noted that there were no colds among his crew for about a year after their last contact with their normal environment. But that there was an outbreak after the opening of a box of clothes.

This suggests that there must be carriers of a cold virus. It may be that in large communities the virus is passed on from person to person, not necessarily producing a cold in each one of us. If it does not find a victim, then the virus tends to die out. We know that influenza virus can survive for two weeks in dust, but there is no evidence that cold virus can persist for long outside the body.

There is evidence that the cold virus is very light and can remain suspended in the air for an hour or more, explaining the ease with which it is transmitted, even by the breath of a victim, or by means of something he has handled.

British Foreign Policy Unchanged

By RICHARD SCOTT

LONDON. The Labor government's handling of foreign affairs featured a good deal more prominently than is normal in the election campaign of its opponents. It might reasonably be felt therefore that the change of government that has now taken place in Britain will lead to a markedly different foreign policy. I think it would be wrong to believe this. I think there is going to be no dramatic or marked change in British foreign policy as the result of the change of government. It was not so much the foreign policies of the last Labor government that came under criticism from its Conservative opponents as the manner in which these foreign policies were carried out. Such change as there may be in British foreign policy will be in method rather than in direction.

* * *

Few new governments can have assumed office faced with so many vital and urgent problems in the field of foreign affairs as has Mr. Churchill's. Mr. Churchill has appointed his deputy prime minister, Mr. Anthony Eden, to the post of foreign minister. Perhaps no statesman now living has had such a long and intense experience of foreign affairs as has Mr. Eden. He first became foreign minister at the age of 38, when he was the youngest British foreign secretary for nearly a century.

Of the major problems which confront him at the foreign office today, probably those of Persia and Egypt are the most acute. Both problems are the outcome of the new and explosive nationalism which has been manifesting itself in the countries of the Middle East since the end of the war. Both disputes are the result of the unwillingness of the two Middle Eastern countries to continue to fulfill obligations to which they are legally bound. In both cases the British government has agreed to lighten these obligations through the negotiation of a new arrangement. In both cases have the British proposals been rejected flatly and violently. But the two cases are not entirely similar.

In Persia, to defend our rights, it would have been necessary to land an adequate military force. That could, of course, have been done. But it would very probably have meant that the landing of troops would have been resisted by the Persians, and fighting would have ensued. In Egypt, British troops are already there in accordance with the terms of the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian Treaty. It is their presence there, indeed, which constitutes the basis of the dispute. But fighting will only start if the Egyptians begin it. There can be no doubt that the new British government, like Mr. Attlee's government, is determined to continue to maintain all its rights under the 1936 treaty and to take whatever steps are necessary to counter any pressure that the Egyptians may bring to bear upon our forces in the Canal Zone, in their attempt to force them out. Already the Egyptians have begun to make conditions as difficult as possible for the British troops.

* * *

In the last resort, should it be considered necessary in order to maintain our position in the zone, there is little doubt that the British government would thorize the local British military authorities to take counter measures against the Egyptians. Undoubtedly the most effective of these would be to cut off the supply of oil. This could be done. The oil pipe-line passes through territory under British control. The effect of such a step would be serious for Egypt. Her industries, which depend for their power upon oil, would come to a standstill. Her bakeries, which are also fired with oil, would have to be idle. Her sewerage system would be brought to a standstill and the consequences of that in a country like Egypt would be serious. A second serious sanction which might be taken would be the freezing of Egyptian sterling credits accumulated during the war when Britain was contracting large debts in Egypt for the prosecution of the war in the Middle East.

But as I say, these sanctions against Egypt will only be taken if Egyptian actions force us to do so in order to ensure the fulfilment of rights to which we are entitled under the treaty which Nahas Pasha, the present Egyptian prime minister, freely negotiated in 1936.

* * *

The Egyptian dispute differs from the Persian oil dispute in another important respect. In the settlement of the dispute with Egypt, the governments of France, the U.S.A. and Turkey have a direct interest, as they had not in Persia. The three governments, together with Britain, have decided to create a regional defense organization for the Middle East. They invited Egypt to take part with them as a founder member. Had Egypt accepted, instead of refusing the invitation, this would have enabled the British government to accede to the Egyptian desire for the abrogation of the 1936 treaty. For under the new proposal the defense of the vital Suez Canal Zone, which is the sole reason for the maintenance of British forces there, would have been ensured by forces of the joint defense organization in which Egypt would have played an equal part with the other powers.

Egypt's refusal to come into the proposed Middle East defense organization will not deter the four powers from going ahead with their arrangements without her. Her refusal has also called forth statements from the governments of France, the U.S.A. and Turkey, supporting Britain in her stand for the fulfilment of all her rights under the 1936 treaty.

Their Day, Not Ours

(From The Regina Leader-Post)

THE provincial command of the Canadian Legion has protested against declaring Nov. 12 a holiday because Nov. 11, Remembrance Day this year happens to fall on Sunday.

The Legion believes, and understandably so, that the sacredness of this significant date, set aside for the sole and solemn purpose of paying respect to the dead and perpetuating the spirit of service, might be severely shaken if it came to be regarded simply as another holiday to which workers are entitled in terms of time off or extra pay.

Remembrance Day in actual fact has nothing whatsoever to do with hours of work and rates of pay. It is a day which belong entirely to service and ex-service men, the relatives and friends of those killed or disabled in service and to all who respect the ideal of sacrifice.

Nov. 12 should not be declared a holiday at all, and most certainly it should not be allowed to get mixed up with hours of work and rates of pay.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

Some of the oldest mysteries have to do with pencils. Who, for example, uses the first five inches of the stubs in polling booths?

One fault of our universities is lack of integration among their divisions. The medical school knows all about the human anatomy, and the engineering school designs a stadium with seats 18 inches wide.

Teacher: "Children I want you to write an essay about King Alfred. But don't waste time about the burning of the cakes."

One essay read: "King Alfred went and knocked on the door of a lonely cottage in a forest and was admitted by a farmer's wife. What happened after that I'm not allowed to say."

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

ON the way to my summer cottage is a farm bounded by stone fences built with massive boulders that must weigh hundreds of pounds each. The fences are fantastic. The fields they enclose are good and rich. For years I have passed by, filled with wonder at what giants must have pioneered this hilltop. This fall, I gave a lift to an old lady waiting at the gate of the farm: and she told me the story of the mighty fences. It was a small, shy man who built them.

"The whole township," she said, "was settled before anybody dreamed of laying a hand to this hilltop. It was nothing but a stone pile, though a fine beech forest grew on it.

"Then along came my grandfather to this neighborhood, a little Englishman from Yorkshire who got his first job as hostler at the hotel in the village down yonder. All he knew about was horses. He could do anything with a horse.

"My grandmother was an orphan, working as a mere child in the hotel, a little slavey. The hostler married the little orphan, and they settled on this hill. You say it must have been giants built those fences? Yes, it was giants. Giant horses. In five years of happy starvation, they cleared the main fields, and drew the stones and built the fences. With stone boats and chains, he and his horses laid that fencing like stone masons. The land free of boulders was rich. They prospered. He bred and traded horses until he learned to be a good farmer. He died well off, and educated seven of his grandsons to be professional men all over Canada and the United States. We still have this farm; and others of us own farms throughout the country.

"And we all remember these fences: for they remind us that if you have the gift, you can always find the brute strength to help you use the gift."

Looking Back

25 YEARS AGO—The city manager by-law will not be placed before the voters at the forthcoming election. Instead a referendum will be taken as to whether they want a city manager or not.

50 YEARS AGO—The agents of the Wellington Colliery and the New Vancouver Coal Company have announced a reduction in the price of coal, which now sells at $6 a ton instead of $6.50.

85 YEARS AGO—Capt. Stamp's handsome new steamer Isabel has been outside for a trial trip. The machinery was stiff, notwithstanding which the steamer attained the remarkable speed of nine knots.

Builders Ask Abolition Of Conciliation Boards

The Victoria Builders' Exchange has urged that conciliation boards be abolished in B.C. labor disputes, and that their functions be taken over by the Labor Relations Board.

This was stated here yesterday by G. H. Wheaton, builders' ex-[illegible] Vancouver Builders' Exchange had presented at Vancouver Wednesday several proposals to the five-man legislative board inquiring into the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act.

The builders asked that the personnel of the L.R.B. be increased from five to seven or more, with small committees of the board hearing conciliation cases in different parts of the province.

The findings of the small committees could be appealed to the full board.

Under the I.C.A. Act, conciliation boards are brought into labor disputes when all negotiations fail. Under the new system neither union nor employer would be represented on the board as they are on conciliation boards now.

Among other recommendations were: That chairmen of conciliation boards should have legal experience and that they should receive not less than $50 a day rather than the present $25; that unions be obliged to implement strike votes 30 days after they are passed, and that the act provide there should be no picketing until all its requirements had been complied with.

Terminology Debated

Disuse of "Dominion" Sets House in Flurry

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP).—The Canadian Government's gradual and quiet elimination of the word "Dominion" from the official vocabulary stirred up an hour-long debate in the Commons tonight.

Progressive Conservative and Social Credit members criticized the government for what they considered the unnecessary slipping of a tie with history. Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, defended the dropping of "Dominion" as in keeping with Canada's nationhood.

The sidetracking of "Dominion" has been in progress on Parliament Hill for a couple of years. Telephone operators now answer "Government of Canada" instead of the former "Dominion Government." One government publication after another has had its title changed from the old "Dominion" dating back to Confederation.

A minor government bill dealing with land surveys, brought the issue to a head. Among other changes, the title of the "Dominion Lands Surveys Act" was to be altered to the "Canada Lands Surveys Act."

E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops) jumped in to find out why the change in name was being made and Mines Minister George Prudham said he thought the title was more "suitable" and would avoid confusion with the old act.

Mr. Fulton and A. J. Brooks (PC-Royal) argued for the retaining of "Dominion"—if only as a sentimental link because of Canada's long association with the term. It didn't, they said, imply any subservience.

Prime Minister St. Laurent then gave the first official explanation of why the government has been dropping "dominion."

"Some of us rather like the name of Canada," he said. Since the time of the British North America Act, there had been a "progression," culminating in the Statute of Westminster in which the "equality" of Canada had been recognized.

"This government," he added, "feels that the majority of people consider it is quite a privilege to be regarded as 'Canadian' rather than as 'dominion' citizens."

Three Boys End 700-Mile Voyage

TUTUILA, Samoa, Nov. 8 (AP).—Three teen-aged Samoan boys who put to sea in an 18-foot rowboat 36 days ago have been found alive, weeks after all hope for their survival was abandoned. The boat landed Monday on a reef at Funafuti Atoll in the Ellice Islands, 700 miles from home. The three left Swains Island, north of Samoa, Sept. 30 for a 50-mile trip to the Tokelau Islands. They were not seen again until Monday.

India To Get Top-Grade Wheat

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP).—Canada has decided to give hunger-torn India a gift of $10,000,000 worth of top-quality wheat to be shipped as soon as Canada's transportation crisis eases.

The only stipulation, it was learned, is that India, in selling the wheat to dealers, will use the money in some economic project which will help build up the country.

Earlier this year Canada offered as a gift some of last fall's record wheat but India said she would prefer to wait until Canada could give top-quality grain.

Funds to cover the gift will come from Canada's $25,000,000 contribution to the six-year Commonwealth program to help strengthen south and southeast Asia against the threat of Communist aggression.

India's share of the $25,000,000 will be $15,000,000. The other $10,000,000 will go to Pakistan for projects to be worked out soon.

The other $5,000,000 of Canada's contribution to India will likely be used to build irrigation and power projects, send technicians to Canada for training, develop transport facilities and buy agricultural and building materials.

Earlier, N. K. Cavell, Canada's Colombo-plan administrator, warned that Russia, through fantastic lies, is "licking the pants off us" in the cold war.

The 57-year-old Toronto industrialist spoke to the Canadian Club of Ottawa and appealed for greater support of Canadian aid to Asia.

"The western democracies have to make up their minds either to allow Moscow's fantastic lies to win to their side more millions in Asia or to get in there themselves and disprove those lies."

India's government, he said, "faces more terrible and pressing problems than any other government in the world today." Its people, numbering 350,000,000, were "terribly poverty-stricken" and for many of them "famine was just around the corner."

Secret Deal Charge To Be Fully Answered

A charge by Ald. Millard Mooney that the city finance committee has been carrying on a secret deal without council approval will be answered in full.

"There is nothing to hide or nothing to color," said Mayor Percy George at a finance committee meeting yesterday. "I am simply going to prepare a statement of fact."

Ald. Mooney made the charge at Tuesday's council meeting that an offer by King Realty for the market building had been received and rejected without council's knowledge.

The offer was made to city manager Cecil Wyatt, who then presented a report to the finance committee stating his view that the offer was insufficient and acceptance would be unsound economics for the city.

The finance committee then turned the offer down.

"I have never seen a letter addressed to council with an enclosed check as has been [illegible]," said Mr. Wyatt.

"An applicant is not shut out in any case," said Mr. Wyatt. "If he feels I haven't used good judgment he can still go to council."

The committee agreed that authority which gives Mr. Wyatt the right to recommend acceptance or rejection of offers for small properties held true in the case of a large one.

Restriction, Fine Follow Driving Charge

R. E. Walsh, West Saanich Road, in Saanich police court Thursday pleaded guilty to careless driving and was fined $35. He was restricted to driving for business purposes only for three months.

T. T. Waters, 1790 Cedar Hill Crossroad, who faced a similar charge was also fined $35 and three months except for business purposes.

Allan D. Wilson, 2230 Willow, charged with driving while his ability to do so was impaired by alcohol, was remanded to Nov. 15.

Magistrate Hall said he would have to review all the evidence again before passing sentence.

If you like the better-designed Christmas greeting cards, you are advised by city stationery men to shop for them now.

Witnesses to Meet Here

Jehovah's Witnesses will hold their annual convention in the Club Sirocco Nov. 16, 17 and 18. It is anticipated more than 1,000 will attend from various parts of the province, it was reported yesterday by spokesman P. Morrell.

Highlight of the convention will be a public address by F. J. Franske, Toronto, who will speak on "Security in a Troubled World."

The Witnesses received permission from the city yesterday to hold an automobile parade on Nov. 17 and to "have an overhead banner across a city street." Route of the parade is not known.

According to Mr. Morrell, purpose of the convention is two-fold. First is to testify to the purposes of the Most High God Jehovah and secondly to receive instructions to help in becoming more efficient as ministers and witnesses.

Mayhew Asks Fishing Agreement Based on Good Sense, Justice

—MARINE AND TRAVEL NEWS—

Canada wants an international fisheries agreement based on "good sense, equity and justice," Fisheries Minister Mayhew told an international fisheries conference in Tokyo.

He outlined Canada's stand on North Pacific fisheries in a statement at the opening of the conference Monday. A copy of the statement was released here today by the Vancouver office of the department of fisheries.

Canada and the United States, he said, have worked jointly to conserve fish in the Pacific.

The conference was called by Japan to prepare an international treaty with Canada and the United States to govern fisheries.

Canada's minister told of conservation efforts worked out in co-operation with the United States.

"Together we have . . . a joint interest in the stocks we have helped to build up. We have withheld from our fishermen their right to fish. Thereby, we have maintained stocks not only within our territorial waters but on the high seas," he said.

"These steps have been at substantial cost to our governments.

"Without some international agreement to safeguard the benefits from all these efforts, no incentive would remain to conserve on the high seas."

Mr. Mayhew proposed:

"First, the creation of an organization that will make continuous scientific study of the particular resources covered by the agreement.

"Second, restraints of fishing industry.

"Some waiver of the right to free fishing is necessary among the parties to the agreement."

The scientific organization would be contributed to by all parties.

He proposed an agreement that will promote maximum production and "maintain constant yields of food for the people of the world."

HERRING DISPUTE

Start of British Columbia's herring harvest this year is being held up because of a pay dispute between the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union and operators.

The herring fishermen, practically all of whom operate out of Vancouver, will not leave for the herring grounds until a settlement has been reached. To date there is no sign of one. Negotiating committees have held several meetings.

The fishermen are seeking a straight 25 per cent increase on last year's rate of $7.40 per ton plus longer week-end rest periods and other benefits.

Herring fishing operations are now 11 days behind schedule and operators claim the deadlock is causing a "serious economic loss."

A late season will mean less oil, operators claim. Percentage of oil content in the North Pacific herring drops steadily this time of the year, they said.

The time lost to date may mean a loss of three to four thousand gallons of oil, one spokesman for the operators claimed.

Last year's herring season produced 3,258,000 gallons of oil—most of it before the Christmas tie-up period.

New Library Tops Records For Circulation

The Victoria Public Library broke several records in circulation the first week after the new addition was opened.

Approximately 10,000 books were loaned out and the registration of adults in the first week was 400 per cent more than in ordinary weeks. Also, in the first week, 703 children's books were loaned.

Construction is still incomplete.

"Most people are very pleased because it is so modern and bright," remarked one of the librarians.

Young Canada's Book Week will be celebrated from Nov. 11 till Nov. 16 by the children's department. Films, which are featured by the library, are shown to the children in the basement.

FILM ROOM

This film room accommodates 50 people. In the old library, it was so small that the librarian could almost touch both sides of the room at the same time.

Miss Hazel King, the children's librarian, makes periodic rounds of all the schools in Victoria to tell the children about the books available at the library.

The library's working staff consists of 40 people, with nine children who work after school straightening out books and performing other routine duties.

Both the old and new buildings are now amalgamated to form one building.

RECORDS MADE

The second-floor music room is now also used as a story room.

Ted Reynolds, radio announcer, records a children's session in that room. He tells stories and also interviews some of the children. These sessions are held on Fridays and broadcast on Sunday afternoon.

Victoria's library is one of the three centres in Canada to be selected by the National Film Board as test centres to distribute films to urban groups. Miss R. Firth, film librarian, receives the blocks of films from the film board.

Hypnotist Whammys Canucks Again

Opinion is divided as to whether hypnotism as practiced by former newspaperman Ray Munro had anything to do with Vancouver Canucks' victory over Victoria Cougars on Tuesday, breaking a 19-game losing streak. Canuck owner Coley Hall is apparently certain it had and is going to give it another try tonight when Canucks meet New Westminster Royals. Above, Munro is shown working on Bill Hartsburg before Victoria game. Looking on are teammates, from left: Ray Manson, Vic Lofvendahl, Phil McAtee, Bob Ballance, Lorne Davis and coach Murph Chamberlain (squatting right).—(CP photo.)

Rockets Lose Three on Prairie Trip Cougars Play Ironmen Here Tonight

HOW THEY STAND

N. Westminster	8	2	4	51	41	20
Saskatoon	7	5	3	47	41	17
Seattle	6	6	4	50	55	16

VICTORIA	8	4	2	54	48	14
Calgary	4	8	1	36	47	9
Vancouver	1	11	3	41	81	5

Next games, tonight: Seattle at Victoria, New Westminster at Vancouver, Calgary at Edmonton.

Tacoma Rockets completed a disastrous swing of the prairie section of the Pacific Coast Hockey League by dropping a 4-2 decision their third straight at Calgary last night when the Stampeders rallied for three goals in the final period.

Tonight all clubs except Tacoma and Saskatoon see action with Victoria Cougars entertaining Seattle Ironmen, Vancouver's hypnotized Canucks hosting the league-leading New Westminster Royals and Edmonton Flyers meeting the Stampeders.

CRIPPLES TO TRY

Although the Cougars are best with minor injuries, they expect to be at full strength with the exception of Reggie Abbott tonight. Coach Roger Leger has a bruised bone in his shoulder and Joe Evans is suffering from a pulled leg muscle but both expect to see some action against the Ironmen.

A Victoria victory and an Edmonton loss would boost the Cougars into a third-place tie with the Ironmen.

GRUHN MISSING

Manager Fred Hutchinson reported last night that he has heard no further word from Hermie Gruhn, who had agreed to turn pro again with the Cougars. The former Royal has been playing with Nanaimo Clippers.

At Calgary last night, Stampeders held more than their share of play in the first period but Rockets got the only goal when Warren Godfrey pushed home his own rebound at 10:03. The Rockets were unable to add to the margin although the Stampeders played shorthanded for six straight minutes through four successive penalties.

GOALIES STAR

Both goalies played sensationally in the second period as the Stampeders tied it up on a long pass from George Agar to Norm Larson.

Rockets were shorthanded when the Calgary club scored all three of its goals in the final period.

By The Canadian Press

The two Canadian teams in the National Hockey League registered victories last night, Montreal Canadiens dumping Boston Bruins 4-2 in Montreal while Toronto Maple Leafs traveled to Chicago to down the Black Hawks 3-1.

The Habitants withstood a rousing second-period comeback drive by Boston to gain their victory before a crowd of 13,971, smallest of the season in the Forum.

It was the first loss for the Bruins in their last seven games and the first win for Canadiens in four starts.

Canadiens led 3-0 late in the second period and the Bruins all but wiped this out. The Montrealers stayed off a desperate Boston attack in the final and counted the only goal for the period.

Bert Olmstead, Ross Lowe, Dick Gamble and Paul Meger scored for Montreal, and Johnny Pierson and Vic Lynn for Boston.

Maurice Richard, Montreal ace scorer, picked up two assists.

Toronto's victory, before 4,102 fans, smallest turnout in Chicago's hockey history, moved them into sole possession of second place in the league, two points ahead of Boston.

Leafs, who shut out Hawks by 1-0 in Toronto Wednesday night, blanked them until 10.13 of the final period last night on the strength of a tight defence and a nice job by netminder Al Rollins.

They poked home two goals within three minutes in the second period for the lead on which they coasted home.

Nat Fleischer, chairman of the committee, announced the net receipts of the show, donated by the International Boxing Club, were $1,862. Among the contributions was $500 from Roger Donoghue of Yonkers, N.Y., Flores' opponent the night he was fatally injured at Madison Square Garden.

Middlecoff Takes Lead In North and South Open

PINEHURST, N.C., Nov. 8 (AP).—Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., professional, who six years ago become the only amateur to win the event in its 49-year-history, today came up with his second one-under-par 71 to take a one-stroke lead at the half-way mark of the $7,500 North and South open golf tournament.

With single rounds remaining tomorrow and Sunday, Middlecoff's 142 was a shot in front of three rivals. Jimmy Adams, a member of the British Ryder Cup team; the reigning British amateur champion, Dick Chapman, and Tommy Bolt, Durham, N.C. Chapman's four-under-par 68 was the day's best effort over the wind-swept 7,007 yards of the No. 2 championship course of the Pinehurst Country Club.

Sammy Shead, the P.G.A. champion who was gunning for his third straight North and South win, blew himself to a 78 for 150, eight off the pace, and withdrew. He headed for Miami, Fla., tonight, leaving only Henry Ransom of the 10-man Ryder Cup team still in the tournament.

Sixty-one players qualified for the third round with scores of 152 or under.

Oak Bay High moved into a three-way tie for the lead in the Inter-High School Junior Boys' Basketball League by edging Victoria High Golds, 31-30, yesterday. The victory left the Bays tied with the idle Mount Douglas and Mount View teams, whose battle for undisputed leadership was postponed.

Victoria High Golds climbed into fourth place by taking a close-checking 15-12 decision from Esquimalt. Oldham paced the winners with eight points while Bennett topped the losers with six.

In a basement battle, S. J. Willis scored a mild upset by taking a 19-17 overtime decision from Central to leave the losers alone in the cellar. The home team scored a pair of baskets in the overtime against a singleton for Central. Caldwell of the winners and Parker for Central shared scoring honors with six points each.

Line-ups:

United Set For Firemen On Monday

Victoria United will be at full strength for its important Coast Soccer League battle against Firefighters at Royal Athletic Park on Monday.

A victory for United coupled with a North Shore loss to New Westminster Royals tomorrow will break the deadlock tie between the clubs and give the Victoria squad undisputed leadership.

Spares are Tommy Druce, Bob Allen, Don McGee, Ken Sneddon, and Red McMillan.

Firefighters are bringing a revamped but still potent line-up. Bill McClure and Dave Brown flank centre forward Frank Ambler with Pete Proctor and Art Hughes on the wings of the attacking unit.

Shifts Position

DOUG GREIG

Classy inside left of Firefighters in Coast Soccer League, Greig will be seen at new position on Monday when Smokies meet Victoria United in important match at Royal Athletic Park. Greig will start at left half. United will be going all out for victory to retain good chance of copping first-half laurels.

Soccer Chief Raps Abuse By Players

John Richardson, B.C. soccer commissioner, warned that he will crack down on the use of abusive language by players in future while considering the case of St. Andrew's George Steele at Vancouver on Wednesday.

Richardson said: "If players cannot go onto the field to play football they should give up the game. We will not tolerate abuse of our officials."

He warned that players found to have committed offenses claimed in referees' reports will be disciplined, cautioned or suspended according to the frequency and seriousness of the offense.

Most Valuable

WINNIPEG, Nov. 8 (CP) — Glenn Dobbs, quarterback of Regina Roughriders, has won the Jeff Nicklin Memorial trophy, awarded annually to the player in the Western Interprovincial Football Union voted the most valuable player to his team.

Dobbs was first choice on eight ballots, second on four.

McMorrans Win

McMorrans Intermediate "B" boys gained a 35-16 decision over Brentwood in a Saanich and Suburban Basketball League game at Lake Hill gym last night. Gordie Jones paced the winners, who held a 14-4 edge at the half, with ten points.

Commissioner For Minors To Be Studied

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8 (INS) —A proposal to create the post of minor league baseball commissioner will be considered at the minor league meeting in Columbus, O., next month.

This was reported in Los Angeles today by George H. Maines, president of the Flint, Mich., baseball club of the Central League.

Maines said that Ty Cobb, one of baseball's all-time stars, had been asked to accept the proposed job as czar of the minor leagues but he did not reveal Cobb's reply.

Maines, who said he came west in connection with possible purchase of the San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast League, claimed the plan has the support of eight minor league presidents and more than 40 other club owners.

Mixed Emotions

GEORGE "PORKY" ANDREWS

Andrews was apparently man with mixed emotions as he watched Victoria High Totems and Alberni High School basketball teams going through pre-game workouts at Victoria High School last night. Coach of Alberni squad last season, Andrews was mentor of Totems last night when they dropped 60-48 decision to visiting club. (Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.

Soccer Series Relocated To Beacon Hill

Victoria West and Esquimalt will meet in the first game of the McGavin Cup soccer series at Lower Beacon Hill at 2.30 p.m. tomorrow.

The game was originally scheduled for Royal Athletic Park but was switched to Beacon Hill when league secretary Don Gray received notification from parks commissioner Herb Warren last night that the Caledonia Avenue enclosure will not be available. Improvements are being made to the drainage system at Royal Athletic Park and will not be finished in time for the game.

Other first round matches will be played Sunday, pitting Alcos against the reinstated Victoria City XI at Lower Beacon Hill at 2.45 p.m. and Heaneys against Duncan Native Sons at Duncan at 2.30 p.m.

All proceeds from the knockout series go to the injured player fund of the Victoria and District Football Association.

Boxer, Manager Get Suspension In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8 (CP).—The Vancouver Athletic Commission last night suspended boxer Bobby Dahl and his manager, Frank Yazzolino.

The suspension is in effect indefinitely, pending word from the California State Athletic Commission.

Dahl admitted his former name was Augie Yarrett, and that he was barred from fighting in California.

Under his former name, Yarrett boxed in Vancouver in 1949 and was knocked out in two rounds by Frank Almond.

On Nov. 1, under the name of Dahl, he was decisioned by Ken McPhee.

St. Andrews Add Two Men

St. Andrews have added two players in an attempt to bolster the club and regain the prestige it once held in the Coast Soccer League.

Manager Tom McNeill reported yesterday that he had signed Gerald Fenske, a standout juvenile player and halfback Joe Jordan, who played with Vancouver City last year.

The Scots are reported battling internal dissension but McNeill was given a vote of confidence by the players this week.

Team Denies Report Offer Made to Lawn

OFFICIALS of Victoria Individuals denied last night that they had made any overtures to Kenny Lawn, former professional cage star with Vancouver Hornets, to secure his services for the season.

Lawn is reported to have stated in Vancouver yesterday that he had received an offer from the Victoria team to play with it in the Inter-City Basketball League and that he expects to receive a letter confirming his acceptance any day.

Alberni Displays Champion Style Trouncing Totems

Alberni High School's basketball team showed the form which carried them to the Vancouver Island high-school championship last year as it romped to a 60-48 decision over Victoria High Totems at the Fernwood Road gymnasium last night.

Off its performance, the West Coast squad, which was built up and coached last year by George Andrews, appears to be the club to beat again in this year's tournament. Andrews was coach of the losing team last night.

Alberni showed superior marksmanship around the key and looked like champions all the way before a packed gym of screaming students.

Paced by Mosdell and Groholski, the visitors jumped into an early lead, held a 12-11 edge at the quarter and extended it to an eight-point margin at the half. Totems matched them basket for basket in the third quarter but could not keep up the pace.

Mosdell took scoring honors by pushing up 15 points for Alberni while Groholski and Pennington added 11 each. John Shields and Click Clarke played outstanding games for the losers and contributed 11 points each.

Don Donahue pushed up 14 points to pace the Totem "B" squad to a 47-16 triumph over St. Louis College in the preliminary. Clarkson was a standout for the losers and chalked up seven points.

Line-ups follow:

Totems "A"—Pedersen 3, Anderson 4, Jakrans 6, Shields 11, Clarke 11, Abbott 4, Whan 5, Kirchner 1, Oakley 9, Gatal 15.

Alberni—Grey 4, Ames 3, Groholski 11, Mosdell 15, Pennington 11, McLean 6, Perry, Sweeney, Schirk 3. Total 60.

Totems "B"—Woollett 8, Zarry 10, Dennison, Donahue 14, Boyland 2, Ash 1, Hodge 12. Total 47.

St. Louis College—Siere 4, Martin, Morrison, Ritchey 2, Clarkson 7, O'Neill 2, McGhee. Total 16.

Sugar Ray, Graziano Bout Bruited

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP).—Talk of a Sugar Ray Robinson-Rocky Graziano middleweight title bout at Chicago, Feb. 20, and another American visit by Britain's Randy Turpin livened the boxing beat today.

Turpin may be matched with Kid Gavilan, the welter champion in an over-the-weight bout at New York or Detroit next January. At least that's what Al Weill, International Boxing Club matchmaker, has in mind.

This would lead up to a third Robinson-Turpin meeting at London next June, providing there were no upsets.

Macdonald Purse Held For Rematch

Jack Macdonald will have to stick to wrestling in future or be barred from wrestling for life.

That is the ruling of the Pacific Coast Wrestling Committee after considering the report of Macdonald's actions during his bout with Chief Thunderbird at Bay Street Armory last Saturday.

The committee decided to withhold Macdonald's purse until such time as he is matched with Thunderbird again when it will be added to the purse for that bout on a winner-take-all basis.

Promoter Nick Harris last night announced his opening bout for this week's card. It will pit two Victoria heavyweights, Benny Laughren and Ken Williamson, against each other.

The feature bout will be a tag-team match with Jack Kiser and Turk Kamel Mamout opposing John Cretoria and Australian Con Bruno. Thunderbird meets Paavo Katonen in the semi-windup. One other bout is to be arranged.

McKechnie Cup Play Set In Vancouver on Monday

McKechnie Cup play will open at Vancouver on Monday with Vancouver Reps meeting North-Wests. Victoria's Crimson Tide will see its first action in the annual premier English rugby competition on Boxing Day at Macdonald Park against Varsity Thunderbirds.

A new method of selecting the Victoria team will be put into effect this year. Each of the four coaches in the Victoria Rugby Union's senior division will nominate players they think suitable for the team. Final selection of the team will be made by the manager and coach of the Rep squad about the end of November. The manager and coach are expected to be named in the near future.

It was decided at a meeting of the V.R.U. on Wednesday that the two-half schedule will be dispensed with this year and played as an entity. The league winner will receive the Barnard Cup and all four clubs will compete for the Cowichan Cup and Vancouver Island championship. The provincial knockout series winner will take the Rounsefell Cup.

Games scheduled in the V.R.U. tomorrow pit Crusaders against Oak Bay Wanderers on the upper pitch at Macdonald Park and J.B.A.A. against Victoria College on the lower field.

Line-up for Vancouver Reps in Monday's McKechnie Cup game follows:

Hilary Wetherspoon, fullback; Russ Hesketh, Lionel Feeney, Bill Kinder and Gordy Hemmingway, three-quarters; Dave Story, five-eighths; Norm Blake, scrum half; Rudy Moore, Harvey Allen, Les Rempesh, Cliff Sproule, John Braidwood, George Bulmer, Graham Rudge (captain), and Ernie Norman, forwards. Spares are Harry Winters, Don Spence and Eric Cardinal.

Pete Anderson Gains Decision In Main Bout

Pete Anderson, protege of former heavyweight Gordie Grayson, gained a decision over Kerry McVeeter of Navy in the feature bout of a boxing program sponsored by the James Bay Boxing Club at the Victoria Ballroom last night.

Game to Test Possibility Of Big League

The exhibition junior Canadian football game between Canadian Services College and Meralomas at Vancouver tomorrow will be used as a test for the possible formation of an inter-city Big Four Junior Canadian Football League next year.

Negotiations are already under way for the formation of a circuit comprising the two top Vancouver clubs, Victoria and Penticton. Tomorrow's game will give some indication of the comparative strengths of mainland and Victoria teams.

Canadian Services College has not been defeated in the Victoria loop in three years. Meralomas lost a one-touchdown decision to Vancouver Blue Bombers in the mainland final this year but toppled the Bombers in league play and gained a victory and tie with North Shore.

Meralomas have five holdovers from last season's squad and boast a line-up averaging 170 pounds per man.

Racing has been resumed at Sportsman's Park, Chicago, after a two-day lull occasioned by bad weather and track conditions.

Duck-Shooting Prospects Reported Good on Island

Most Vancouver Island hunters are likely to be banking away at some sort of wild life this week end. Early birds looking for water fowl will be legally gunning for ducks, coots, geese and snow geese and Wilson snipe at daybreak tomorrow. Last-chancers will be out trying to get a pheasant or a deer. The pheasant season closes Sunday night, the extended deer season on Monday night.

Outlook for successful duck shooting is reported to be extremely good. Roger Monteith, veteran sportsman, claims that this year's is the largest concentration of ducks he has seen in some time. However, most of the ducks are in the sanctuaries and hunting waters. He quite as good is most popular hunting waters are not where they are. But the advantage of time is with the hunter. The duck season, as well as the season on coots and geese does not close until Jan. 8 and 53 days is a long time.

The season on Wilson snipe closes on Dec. 9 and, as a reminder the season on black brant does not open until Dec. 22.

As for limits: Hunters are allowed eight ducks daily—can have two days' bag in possession and are allowed 100 of all kinds in the aggregate for the full season. Coots can be shot at the rate of 25 daily with 150 the limit for the season. Eight snipe can be shot each day with a maximum of 30 for the season and on geese it is five daily, a possession limit of 10 and a season limit of 25.

And as a final reminder, do not forget that shooting is not legal until 30 minutes before sunrise and only until 30 minutes past sunset. For the benefit of hunters, the times of sunrise and sunset can be found daily in The Colonist on Page 2.

Anglers Have Fun, Too

Island anglers haven't been doing too badly of late what with grilse plentiful in most tidal waters, fair trout fishing in some spots and good fishing for sea-run cutthroat in river mouths.

Saanich Inlet is yielding grilse steadily with a fairish number of springs and jacksprings to give added encouragement. In fact, spring salmon weighing 22½ and 16½ pounds were reported by Hall's Boathouse. Fred Curtis got the larger one, another weighing 6½ pounds and three grilse on one trip, shared in catches of two springs and 15 grilse and one spring and nine grilse with Pat McLean on two other trips.

Frank Thew hooked the 16½-pounder the other morning when he limited with five springs in short order. All were caught on a Game Guide plug between Hall's and The Island. Thew was using one-pound of weight with 72 foot of line.

Small spoons, particularly stickies, Tom Macks and Diamond, gang troll with worm, leader fly and small plugs have all been successful lures. Early morning has been the best time at the Goldstream and fair fishing is also good in the Brentwood area.

Closer in home, the same lures will bring grilse dinners to almost anyone who goes fishing between Oak Bay and Macaulay Point.

The Quamichan River is particularly good for sea-run cutthroat while the Cowichan is fished fair for trout. Noah Williams hooked a 5-pound steelhead in the Cowichan Sunday on a thread line with a fine spinner and claims he beached it without having to give up his rod.

Disjointed Information

Nonresident hunters pay $20 for a fishing license for the right to hunt pheasants in South Dakota and have the right to ship 15 cripples birds. Shooting is prohibited from noon to dark with a daily limit of ten. In North Dakota, the fee is $25 for nonresident hunters. In the southeastern part of the state, there is a 12-day season with daily and possession limits of two birds. In the western part of North Dakota, the season extends for 32 days, the daily limit is three and possession limit is six . . . As further comparison, the North Dakota duck season extends from Oct. 5 to Nov. 23, the daily bag limit is five and possession limit is 10 . . . Indiana opened its first deer season in 50 years on Nov. 1. Farmers claimed an estimated 30,000 deer have become a nuisance . . . Duck shooting on the prairies this season was the best in years with unharvested crops not only making for plump birds but keeping them around longer than usual . . . Washington State hunters had a meatfall during the last two days of the elk season when cows and calves were declared legal targets during that period in the Yakima-Kittitas elk range areas. Hunters flocked in from all over the state and it was difficult to even find a parking place for cars. It was estimated that 2,000 elk were killed in the two days, 90 per cent of which were cows and calves.

Drop of Seven Per Cent In Baseball Attendance

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—A total of 16,215,626 fans paid to see major league baseball games in 1951, a decline of 7 per cent from 1950, according to unofficial figures.

Once again the world champion New York Yankees led with 1,091,468, followed by Cleveland's bulging 1,704,931. Five American League teams and three in the National, a total of half the majors, drew over the million mark.

Detroit suffered a serious relapse with a drop of 838,827 or 42 per cent. The Boston Braves also had a crushing gate decline of 436,911 or 48 per cent.

The fourth-place Chicago White Sox registered a 70 per cent gain with 1,328,000 for a new Comiskey Park record. It was the first time the White Sox drew a million at home. The old record was 983,403 in 1916 for a fifth-place finish.

Brooklyn's National League leading total of 1,329,431 and the New York Giants' 1,143,867 included the attendance at the three-game tie playoff series.

Figures Show Dodger Profit At $2,364,500

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Chairman Emanuel Celler (Dem., N.Y.) of the House of Representatives monopoly committee has released figures showing that Brooklyn Dodgers earned profits of more than $2,364,500 from 1945 through 1949.

Celler's committee is investigating organized baseball to find out whether it is operating in violation of anti-trust laws.

The Brooklyn congressman said he thought it was appropriate to release the Dodgers' figures now, since owner Walter O'Malley announced recently that his club lost $129,318 in 1950.

Celler said the 1950 season was not a "typical year" of Dodger operations, adding that in that year O'Malley chose to write off a $167,000 loss incurred in promoting a football team.

Berra Named "Most Valuable Player"

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (INS)—A race between a slumping catcher on a first-place team and a 20-game winning pitcher on a last-place team ended in a victory for the backstop today when Yogi Berra was named the most valuable player in the American League for 1951.

Berra beat out Ned Garver, who accounted for 20 of the 52 victories recorded by the lowly St. Louis Browns.

The Yankee catcher polled 184 points from the votes made by a 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers' Association. The righthanded Browns' pitching star got 157 points while double no-hit Allie Reynolds of the Yankees was third with 125 points.

Each of the first three selections received six first-place votes. The 26-year-old Berra got his margin of victory by getting five second-place choices and four fourths. He was named on 22 of the 24 ballots.

Berra thus joins Roy Campanella of the Dodgers in making it a unanimous M.V.P. catcher's year. The Brooklyn catcher was selected as the National League's most valuable.

It was the first time in history that two catchers were selected in the same year.

Fourth place went to sensational rookie Orestes "Minnie" Minoso of the Chicago White Sox who received 120 points. Comeback Bob Feller, who won 22 games for Cleveland, finished fifth with 118 points.

Others in the first ten were:

Batting champion Ferris Fain of the Athletics (103) . . . relief ace Ellis Kinder of the Red Sox (66) . . . Vic Raschi of the Yanks (64) . . . Yankee rookie Gil McDougald (63) . . . and Bobby Avila of the Indians (49).

Little Phil Rizzuto of New York, last year's winner, was 11th.

The chamber of commerce scheduled a luncheon last June 12 to honor this hometown boy who won the Indianapolis speedway race May 31. But June 2 Wallard was burned severely in a racing crash at Reading, Pa. He was in hospital until last month.

Charles L. Johnson Jr., chairman of the imaginary luncheon, said the proceeds from ticket sales would be turned over to Wallard to help pay his heavy medical expenses.

Here's How
By SAM SNEAD
Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

Most youngsters, particularly caddies, start with a pretty fair swing because these small kids

watch the players who swing well and get a mental picture of how it is done. I try to give you such pictures. I sometimes think these pictures are better to learn from than watching an A-1 player swing because his action is so fast that it's nearly impossible to see how he does it. Take Toledo's picture. Here it comes for you to study. Good as this picture is, there is a slight flaw in it. Can you find it? It's the angle at which the clubhead leaves the lowest of the dotted arcs. The hands are just hip high and instead of the club head being where you see it it should be pointing southwest at hand a continuation of those arms. But from where the hands are at the top they do pour the power in, reaching maximum at impact.

Rail Union Head Calls for Anti-Red Labor Army

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (INS).—W. Parker Kennedy, head of America's largest railroad union, called today for mobilization of a world-wide labor army to fight against Communism.

Kennedy, who is president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said this labor army should "bore from within and from without, and battle with guns and pens and voice and spirit" against the Red menace.

In rather dramatic fashion, Kennedy disclosed at the 13th national convention in New York a bizarre Communist plot to lure him behind the iron curtain.

He said the spectre of William Oatis, Associated Press newsman now held prisoner in Czechoslovakia as an American "spy" who "confessed" to espionage, led him to refuse a request from Red Rumania that he spend his holiday "in one of our sanitoria or rest homes."

DIRE CONSEQUENCES

Ostensibly a simple invitation to learn more of the "life and achievements . . . of the trade unions of transport and communication of the Rumanian People's Republic," the letter, dated May 12, 1951, took on an ominous note, Kennedy said, after he received several anonymous warnings not to go ahead.

In his speech Kennedy warned of the dire consequences that could ensue if he—or any other person in a position vital to the nation's defense effort—could be "duped, drugged or hypnotized" into the false beliefs of Communist ideologies.

Labor secretary Maurice J. Tobin told the convention that the wages of 20 million Americans mostly unorganized workers failed to keep pace with the 10.1 per cent rise in the cost of living from January, 1950, to June, 1951.

WAGES LAG

He explained that this segment of workers comprises nearly 45 per cent of the wage earners of the United States.

"What happens to a man whose wages lag behind the cost of living?" asked Tobin. And he went on:

"In an inflationary situation he can't stand still. If he fails to gain or keep pace, he loses. He loses in real wages. He loses in purchasing power."

Tobin declared that under present defense plans, defense production will begin to level off some time in 1953. Many factories, he said, would stop turning out defense items and shift back to the production of consumer goods.

"That is the time," he asserted, "when the purchasing power of American consumers must be adequate to buy what is produced."

Theosophical Group To Hear John Barnes

John Barnes, president of the Theosophical Society in Vancouver, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Victoria branch, Nov. 11, at 904 Government Street. Meeting is open to the general public and will open at 8 p.m.

Mr. Barnes will speak on "Racial Migrations in the South Pacific."

GRIM RELIC

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (CP)—An old clock standing on the mantel of Mrs. Elizabeth Morrison of Corunna, Ont., is a relic of the wreck of the steamer Lady Elgin, sunk in collision in 1860 with the loss of 287 lives. Location of the relic was disclosed in a marine historical review received here.

Cows can't use crutches
We've heard from Denmark that a cow over there had to have its leg amputated, but gets along quite nicely now on a new one made of aluminum.
Whether or not this artificial leg was made of Canadian aluminum, we wouldn't know. Perhaps it was, because we do produce one quarter of the world's supply. That's quite a big thing for Canada. It means jobs for Canadians, and money from abroad to pay for Canadian imports. Right now we are hard at work on extension projects in Quebec and British Columbia; for we intend to go on playing our part in helping Canada grow. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Yesterday Mr. Davenport received a personal letter from Princess Elizabeth's private secretary thanking him for his thoughtfulness.

A far-away earthquake was felt in Victoria early yesterday morning.

The shock was recorded by instruments at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory. Scientists said the centre of the quake was about 1,600 miles away, probably somewhere in the Aleutians.

The first tremor was felt at 5:14 a.m. The quake continued for 90 minutes.

It was described as "moderately strong, but small as earthquakes go."

YE OLDE ENGLAND

The following is an excerpt from a letter just received from an ex-Victoria resident, now in England: "We are house-hunting, but the Agents don't take us around in cars. We saw a priceless gem at £4,750—a charming house of character built in 1716. The ceilings were wavy, and the floors were wavy, too. We peeked into the attic and the whole house shook. The kitchen defies description—it was like the Black Hole of Calcutta. And—all for £4,000."

YE OLDE ESQUIMALT!

Now here is a charming house of character, not 235 years old—only 35 years old. The ceilings are not wavy, and the floors are real good old solid oak. The kitchen is spotless and modern. Four bedrooms and bathroom up, and toilet in basement. Hot-water furnace. On approximately half an acre of land. All this for only $2,800, or $7,200. This is a lovely family home. Some terms or discounts for all cash.

Captain Transferred In Egyptian Incident

SUEZ, Egypt, Nov. 8 (Reuters)—A British sea captain released Wednesday night after investigation of charges that he made libellous remarks about "an eminent Egyptian personality," has been relieved of his command, the Khedivial Mail Line announced today.

Capt. William Travers had been transferred from the Red Sea service to Alexandria, they added.

Khedivial Mail Line denied newspaper reports that Travers had been dismissed from their service and expelled from the country.

Egyptian officers and men aboard Travers' ship, the Egyptian steamer, Sakara, were reported to have signed a petition complaining about the captain's alleged remarks.

The rank of drum-major in the British Army can be traced as far back as 1632.

City Can Expect 10-Inch Snowfall

Nearly 10 inches of snow is due to fall on Victoria before the winter ends, if the law of averages is anything to go by.

Anyway, that's the word from William Mackie, officer in charge of the Gonzales Observatory, who also quickly points out that the prediction is strictly unofficial and, weatherly speaking, the law of averages doesn't necessarily give a true annual picture.

He has been scouting through Victoria's weather records over the past half century, and according to the figures an "average" winter for this city should see about half an inch of snow this month, 1½ inches in December, more than four inches in January, and 3½ inches in February.

"These averages are interesting enough," Mr. Mackie remarked, "but you can't rely too heavily upon them.

"Take January of 1916 as an example. 30.20 inches of snow fell over Victoria that month. And in February of that same year there were 46.40 inches of snow."

On the other hand, Victoria had only light tastes of snow during the winters of 1906, 1907, 1911, 1912, 1915 and 1920.

And remember January of 1950? Thirty-seven inches of snow fell on Victoria during that [illegible] two inches of the white stuff fall over this city.

Mr. Mackie says with an average winter in mind, Victoria's average mean temperature for this month will be around 45 degrees; for December, 41 degrees; for January, 39 degrees, and February, 41 degrees.

During this month the city should have approximately 78 hours of sunshine. December will probably see about 65 hours of sunshine, January 71 hours, and February 96 hours.

Fall Bulb Crop Planted At Experimental Farm

Main fall crop of bulbs—tulips, daffodils and iris—now is planted, according to J. H. Crossley, bulb specialist at the Dominion Experimental Farm at Saanichton.

Bulbs often are not planted until the beginning of November, Mr. Crossley stated, and even late planting to the middle of this [illegible] next year.

Bulg growers were delayed by heavy rains which made planting in October impossible in many areas, where the ground held too much moisture.

SEEDS SHOCKED

Quality of next year's bulbs should not be affected by planting now, the bulb expert said.

Iris bulbs planted this year are now showing above ground and plants are being moved into greenhouses to flower in the early part of next year.

Commenting on recent reports from Italy of treating seeds with electric shocks to increase yields, J. J. Woods, Experimental Farm superintendent, said: "I haven't heard of such work being done here yet."

Italian agriculturists are experimenting with shock treatment on wheat, corn, rice, oats and rye, and claim that the shocked wheat seeds produce 10 to 20 per cent higher yield.

WELL QUALIFIED

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP)—One pioneer who came to Moose Jaw in 1882 answered the roll call at the 56th annual old-timers' rally here. The only one arriving that year to attend the meeting, he was Arthur L. Davies, 91.

Venison at Stall For City's Needy

Needy Victorians will be the recipients this Saturday of 90 pounds of venison from Mrs. Barbara Green's free food stall at the Public Market.

The meat was taken from hunters' illegal bags and made available by the B.C. Game Commission.

Mrs. Green said that other foodstuffs would be on hand but that the biggest need this week was vegetables. Anchovies—200 pounds, in all—which were obtained from Esquimalt Dry Dock, will also be distributed.

Old food cards, which actually expired at the end of October, will be honored when presented Saturday, said Mrs. Green. Welfare agencies are presently sending out 110 new cards.

INITIAL BATTLE

The first American civil war battle was a victory for the confederates at Fort Sumter, S.C., in 1861.

Drills Test Well

LUNDAR, Man., Nov. 8 (CP)—The Manolak Petroleum and Gas Company is drilling a test oil well on the farm of Tom Johnson, eight miles northwest of Lundar, 75 miles north of Winnipeg.

Officials said today the work is being carried out by Peter Gisler, diamond driller, who moved his equipment from Brandon.

Gisler, who began drilling last week, is expected to reach the 500-foot mark late today.

"There is definitely oil in the district," a company official said. Samples of the borings will be brought in for laboratory inspection.

At St. John's Church

Montreal Faith Healer To Conduct Mission Here

A mission for the healing of the body and soul, conducted by Dr. Albert E. Cliffe of Montreal, will be held at St. John's Anglican Church, Quadra and Mason, Nov. 12, 13, 14 and 15.

A trained chemist, Dr. Cliffe has preached in many churches of all Protestant faiths and has taken part in healing services with the laying on of hands.

In trying to sum up the essence of his philosophy, he has said that if a person gains and practices a sincere belief that God dwells within one, a force can be released that can overcome many problems, handicaps and even some sicknesses.

At the 8 p.m. services at the church during the mission, Dr. Cliffe will speak on "Re-discovery of Christ," "Faith and How to Get It," "You Can Be Healed" and "The Magic of Enthusiasm."

There will be a healing service (laying on of hands) at 9.30 a.m., Nov. 14.

Winter Rail Rates Cut On Victoria-Prairie Run

Directors of the Victoria and Vancouver Island Publicity Bureau were jubilant Thursday after receiving information from the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways that reduced winter fares will be allowed between prairie points and Victoria.

In a telegram to the bureau, the railways said that 21-day round trips will be available at fare-and-one-half rates during January, February and March.

Citing the special fares as a distinct advantage to Victoria, a bureau spokesman said winter tourist travel here will be materially assisted.

He said the concessions were first asked two months ago in a joint submission from the local group and the Vancouver Tourist Association. Similar reduced rates will be available for travelers going to Vancouver, he added.

Officials Confident

Little 'Americanism' In Victoria Schools

Very little evidence of "Americanism" has shown itself in Greater Victoria schools, educational officials said yesterday.

In Vancouver, school board trustees have complained that too much "Americanism" is creeping into the system, and that too many American text books are being used.

"We are not keeping the British way of teaching by buying all this American literature," one Vancouver trustee said.

J. F. K. English, superintendent of schools, queried yesterday about the situation in Victoria said there was not too much material from the U.S.

"We get some, but the situation is not serious or likely to become serious. Victoria children are getting lots of good formal schooling."

R. H. Green, chairman of the school board, said he did not think there was "any expression of 'Americanism' here."

"We have a number of U.S. trade magazines, but all text books are O.K.'d by the department of education," he said.

Trustee Walter P. Jeune said he thought the system here was very British, and said he hoped it would always remain so.

"Some American literature is good, however, and then I suppose it is wise to use it," he said.

BREAKFAST ISN'T.... SERVED

We've all been thrown smack off our beam, routed right out of our routine, pitched from our perches, so we droop, the girl friend's gone . . . she's flown the coop. She spread her feathers Pat Bay'd away, & left us 3 out here in Oak Bay. To scratch for ourselves as best we can, she showed me the eggs & the frying-pan. "Don't bother with porridge' time it takes, just all have a bowl of Kellogg's Corn Flakes. Feed the cat, but just ONE gram, for the goldfish . . . "Lana" & "Sam" "And for Heaven's sake (there I looked hurt), every day . . . change your shirt. They're on coat hangers. I've ironed every day, & a drawer full of socks I've mended away. You gals make the beds, try & think, & help your daddy, if he's bogged at the sink." We nodded our heads & meekly complied, & I've gotta admit . . . we've tried . . . we've tried. I aroused the girls the following morn but to wake 'em up, you'd need a horn. So into their rooms, 2 separate dramas, then I went below in my pants & pyjamas. I found the toaster & carved the bread, trying to remember, all that she sed. "One Robin Hood Flake for Lana and Sam." I plugged in the toaster & found the jam. I hollered again, till my lungs did expire, rushed back in the kitchen . . . the toast was on fire. I grabbed a fork, but it wouldn't come out, the coffee was perking right outa the spout. I twisted the switches, to "off" I flung, the darn fool stove too fast & high strung. It's a Westinghouse Range with clock & a bell, & incidentally the make we love to sell. They're meant for a woman, not for a male, the elements heat faster than a shake of Sam's tail. I opened the door to let out the smoke, then into the pan, my egg I broke. The gals rushed in, the lunches to make, peanut butter & some choc'late cake. "Daddy," sed Trudie, "to Mummy I'll cable, take that milk bottle off the table." "Ah . . . Phoonney," I replied, "mebbe the smear & the smoke, "this egg's like a rock, where the heck is the yolk?? C'mon . . ." I hollered, "swallow your milk." The cat was amused, sat washing her silk. "Nuts to the dishes, they'll have to wait; grab your coat, 'cause we're gonna be late." I backed out the car, off we tore. I tho't for a moment, Fluffy's tail in the door.

"I can see," sed Trudie, "how a man needs a wife . . . that's the rottenest breakfast . . . I've ever had in my life."

Water Tank Saves Store From Theft

A bath in cold water was too much for one hard working thief to face overnight Wednesday.

City police report an attempt to enter the Pet Shop, 1412 Douglas Street, was made by removing a wire screen from a skylight window and then ripping out the moulding around the window.

The thief apparently eyed the long drop from skylight to the floor. Directly underneath the skylight was a large tank filled with water. The water, police believe, scared the culprit away.

Last month, a more successful burglar entered the same store and got away with $125.

Last Tuesday, burglars entered the nearby premises of O. H. Dorman Limited by breaking through a skylight in a manner similar to the Pet Shop attempt.

The thief ransacked the store and made off with about $1,000 in cash and clothing.

Sportsman Urges Wiser Rules on Game

Twenty years ago the New England States abounded with fish and game. The area was a sportsman's paradise. Today, wild life populations are nearing extinction.

"The same thing will happen in Canada unless wiser conservation regulations are introduced," William Hawkins told the Rotary Club yesterday.

The former Connecticut business man, now retired in Saanich, has fished and hunted throughout North America. He has studied game conditions in both Canada and the United States and has seen results of uncontrolled slaughter of wild life south of the border.

"Here on Vancouver Island you have fishing streams that are wonderful compared to many of those famous in the New England states, but what happened there will happen here unless a more intensive program of conservation is applied."

He described Canada's readily accessible hunting and fishing areas as one of the country's great tourist assets—claiming that U.S. sportsmen were willing to spend big money on such trips.

On some rivers in the eastern United States sports fishermen were required to pay $30 per rod for the privilege of fishing, Mr. Hawkins said.

City Advises on Royal Entertainment

Victoria is now an authority on how to look after a Royal couple when they come to town.

City Clerk Frank Hunter yesterday received a letter from town clerk F. J. G. William of Auckland, New Zealand, requesting information on the city itinerary and functions during the visit of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

The letter states that the Royal couple will be visiting "down under" in May and June of 1952.

Copies of the mayor's address, the Royal visit program and parade itinerary will be forwarded to Auckland.

In addition, the city will request R. A. Pennington, deputy provincial secretary, to supply officials of the New Zealand city with similar information concerning the B.C. functions.

Curb Stand Still Used

The Island U-Drive is still using its Blanshard Street curb stand because the firm still has a permit from the city to do so, manager I. M. Sangster said yesterday.

An earlier report stated that the cab firm had vacated the stand. Mr. Sangster said yesterday he had offered to vacate the stand on the understanding that city policy was to get the cabs off the street.

After the city's decision to award the stand to another firm, Mr. Sangster said his company had just vacated the premises but is still licensed to use the curb stand which was reduced from two lengths to one.
